

ABOUT

Standing Stone Vineyards is located on the Eastern slopes of Seneca Lake. The site is not only visually stunning but also ideal vineyard land that is integral to the heritage of the Finger Lakes region. Between 1972-1975, Gold Seal winemakers, Charles Fournier, and Guy Devaux planted Chardonnay and Riesling for sparkling wine on what would become the Standing Stone site. Marti & Tom Macinski founded Standing Stone Vineyards in 1991 and continued to add plantings to what is now a 45-acre estate. In 2017 Fred Merwarth and Oskar Bynke, the owners of fellow Finger Lakes winery Hermann J. Wiemer Vineyard, purchased the Standing Stone property. Today, their production showcases all that this exceptional site has to offer, from classic styles made from some of the oldest vinifera plantings in the region to more innovative offerings made from lesser known varieties, like the Georgian grape, Saperavi.

We Take Pride in our Farming & Winemaking Practices

- We have eliminated the use of herbicides
- Our core soil management techniques include the usage of organic compost and cover crops
  - All estate fruit is hand-sorted
- Our fermentations rely on indigenous yeasts
  - We do not use fining or filtering additives
- Our sulfur usage is below certified organic levels
